JAPAN ROUND UP WANTED MEN

FOUNTAINHEAD OF JAP MILITARISM HAS BEEN ABOLISHED

JAPAN BEGINS ROUNDING UP WAR CRIMINALS ON MACARTHUR'S ORDERS

By The Associated Press

Japan abolished her Imperial headquarters, fountainhead of her militarism, under General MacArthur's orders today and began the job of rounding up her own war criminals as Gen. Hideki Tojo, No. 1 on the "wanted" list, showed definite improvement from his suicide attempt two days ago.

The Eighth army granted the Japanese government request that it be permitted to take into custody the war leaders listed by General MacArthur for possible war criminal trials, but indicated there had better be action within two days or the Americans would step in again.

The Japanese request apparently was prompted by desire to prevent further "incidents" such as Tojo's attempt to shoot himself to death Tuesday when American officers went to arrest him.

Condition Tojo Satisfactory

At an American hospital, Tojo was reported as in 'quite satisfactory" condition and talked with correspondents.

In an interview, Prince Fumimaro Konoye, former Premier and now vice Premier under Prince Higashi-Kuni, charged Japanese militarists with giving the government of Japan a reputation as a liar.

Of his own various cabinets, Konoye said they were unable to control the military in the field and often didn't know what the military was doing."

To that reason, Konoye attributed his failure in the summer of 1941 to arrange for personal talks with President Roosevelt, which he thought might have averted the war.

Without having heard Konoye's tale about Japan's reputation for lacking veracity, Admiral Nimitz on Guam advised Americans that the Japanese were telling them what America wanted to hear and their stories should be taken with 'a grain of salt."

Charge Militarists

In another interview in Tokyo a group of leading industrialists charged Japanese militarists with refusing to end the war even after the country knew it was beaten. The business men admitted they had been too cowardly to speak out."

Japan's top business leaders meanwhile acknowledged the country had been so badly beaten that even without atomic bombs some 7,000,000 Japanese would probably have starved in another year of war. The present national economy

AMERICAN, NATIONAL BROADCASTING FIRMS ARE FACING STRIKE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The strike of about 500 Union radio technicians in 350 stations of the National and American Broadcasting companies continued today with both networks on the air, their controls manned by supervisory personnel not connected with the union.

A. T. Powley, president of the National Association of broadcasting Engineers and Technicians, an independent union, said the men would remain away from their jobs until contract negotiations were resumed.

The National Broadcasting company, in a statement, said it was willing to resume negotiations "the minute the men return to work, and otherwise are ready to submit to arbitration."

Negotiations for a contract to replace one which expired June, 1944 collapsed yesterday.

Engineering executives and some radio announcers and producers turned technician to put the networks on the air—manning control panels, pulling switches and turning dials.

The engineers walked out at 5 p. m. (CWT) yesterday, disrupting nationwide service and causing cancellation of some programs.

A. T. Powley, president of the Independent Engineers' Union, the National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians, said last night the men would be asked to return to work today.

Officials of both networks have termed the walkout unauthorized and said it began without warning. The union said it resulted from a breakdown of contract negotiations.

Immediately after the walkout which the union said resulted from a breakdown in contract negotiations during the afternoon, there was 'dead air" on NBC for 15 minutes, and on ABC for half an hour.

The walkout began half an hour after the two networks received notification from the union that a strike would be called after a 30-day waiting period.

NBC said, "the preliminary union demands, which were not accepted, were for wage raises from 40 to 60 per cent."

TOJO SAYS HE HAD LONG PLANNED TO COMMIT SUICIDE

DEPOSED JAP DICTATOR IS REPORTED IN SATISFACTORY CONDITION

By DUANE HENNESSSY

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 13—(AP)—Hideki Tojo, in the first interview since he shot himself two days ago said today he had planned to kill himself for a long time but that when he saw American oficers standing outside his house he "knew the time had come."

The deposed Japanese dictator then shot and wounded himself near the heart with a .32 caliber pistol, but prompt blood transfusions and other treatment by American army doctors saved his life and he was declared today to be in "satisfactory" condition.

In talking today Tojo brushed aside many questions relating to war and politics, but when asked if Saburo Kurusu had known about Pearl Harbor plans when he talked to Cordell Hull about peace, Tojo replied that he could not answer without documentary evidence.

Tojo was registered as patient No. 10,694 and was the 100th patient admitted Tuesday at the army's 98th evacuation hospital.

Little Like Dictator

He looked little like a dictator as he was interviewed. He was propped up on his bed with a folding chair and pillows behind his back. He was covered by a clean white sheet, but his feet were sticking out. He was dressed in G. I. pajamas many sizes too large.

Tojo said he felt much better but suffered a little pain "inside," pointing to his left side. Maj. Elbert Elliott of Houston, Tex. said Tojo's condition was considered

JAPAN WAS BEATEN TO KNEES BEFORE FINAL SURRENDER

AMERICAN AERIAL INVASION PARALYZED INDUSTRY AND BLOCKADED ISLANDS

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 13—(AP)—Japan was beaten to her knees before surrender by the American 'aerial invasion" which virtually paralyzed industry and so completely blockaded the islands that 7,000,000 Japanese probably would have starved to death if the war had continued another year.

This was reported by seven prominent industrialists at a press conference yesterday.

They said that American air raids decided the outcome of the war and that Japan was defeated before the first atomic bomb was dropped. Only the militarists and industrialists, however, knew they had been beaten. The former wouldn't admit it and "we industrialists were too cowardly to speak out."

The industrialists participating in the conference included Ryozo Asano, president of the Japanese steel tube co., Lt., and director of Asano Portland Cement Co., and Aiichiro Fujiyama, president of the Chambers of Commerce and Industry of Japan.

Mines, strewn in the inland sea and off Korea and North China severed Japan's contact with the continent, they said.

Resultant shortages of coal, oil, salt and food contributed to paralyzing of industry so completely that industrialists indirectly informed the militarists shortly be-

ARMY EXPECTS TO DISCHARGE 800,000 MEN MONTHLY SOON

NAVY ASKS CONGRESS TO PLEASE NOT REVEAL PEARL HARBOR SECRET

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The army acknowledged today that its back-log of men eligible for release, but still in uniform, was badly jammed up.

But—Maj. Gen. S. G. Henry, assistant chief of staff, told senators—this backlog will be cleaned up within 40 days.

The general, testifying before the senate military committee which wants to know why men are not being discharged faster, said:

The jam-up occurred in part because the airforces—believing full airpower was needed against Japan—released no men between the day Germany quit and the day Japan quit.

Henry referred to the men in the backlog as being in a "pipe-line" and he added: "They are backed up in it. It is bad. There is no question about it."

New separation centers being put into operation, Henry said, will speed up the discharges.

He said they'll be able to discharge 800,000 men a month by December 1. He didn't say that many would be getting out of service monthly by that date.

What Army Said.

But previously the army was understood to have said 800,000 would be getting out by December 1.

The navy asked congress again—please—not to reveal part of the Pearl Harbor story, the part about the Japanese code.

Congress listened to the army and navy—with mixed feelings.

That was the situation on Capitol Hill today, along with congressional news about surplus property...Standard Time...government corporations...airports...unemployment pay...and the Japanese Black Dragon society.

High army officers did some more explaining before the senate military committee on their plans for faster discharges.

Before the hearing opened, Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) said the army had given him the 300,000-a-month forecast, and he said it sounded good to him.

Johnson said he also was told there will be 171 army separation centers by Dec 1. There are 22 now. Separation centers are where soldiers get their tickets to civilian life.

WAKE COMMANDER DENIES HE SENT FAMOUS MESSAGE

By AL DOPKING

TOKYO, Sept. 133.—(AP)—Lieut Col. James P. Dexereux denies that he ever sent the famous radio message "Send us more Japs" as his heroic little Marine garrison was being overwhelmed on Wake Island in December, 1941.

Devereux was quoted by members of an air evacuation group who visited his prison camp in the mountains of Northern Hokkaido island Tuesday.

Now in command of the camp, Devereux told them "the first thing I'd like to get on the record is that we did not send out such a radio message.

"We had all and more Japs than we could handle right then. There were just too many of them for us to hold off any longer."

St. Al Martin of Roanoke, Va., and Topeka, Kas., who was in the rescue party, said Devereux did tell them he had to give the "cease fire" order three times before his weary and outnumbered Marines would quit the hopeless struggle.

PRINCE KONOYE SAYS TRIED TO AVERT WAR BUT WAS OVERRULED

WANTED TO SEE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT BUT MILITARISTS PREVAILED

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Sept. 13—(AP)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye, Japanese vice Premier, declared today that he had tried in the summer of 1941 to meet President Roosevelt and avert the war but his proposal failed partly through militarist opposition and partly because the Japanese government was regarded internationally as a liar.

"The Japanese government long have had a reputation abroad as liars," he explained, "because they were unable to control Japanese militarists in the field, or often didn't know what the militarists were doing.

"It was that way when I was trying to see Roosevelt. The government was considered a liar, because no matter what we promised regarding China, final decision on the removal of our troops from China depended upon the military. That was one reason why the meeting was never held."

Konoye, Premier in that fateful summer and fall, said that an argument with the then war Minister Hikeki Tojo over continuing peace negotiations led to his own resignation and Tojo's climb to the premiership.

Pearl Harbor Attack Secret

"I feel confident that if I had been able to see Mr. Roosevelt I could have established a basis for intervention of the Imperial House in the rising war tide within Japan at that time," Konoye said in an interview.

The Prince, who was succeeded by Gen. Hikeki Tojo as Premier in October, 1941, said that the Pearl Harbor attack the following December was engineered in strictest secrecy by a small group under Tojo and that many of the military clique, all the civilians and himself were totally unaware of the attack beforehand.

Col. Josef Meisinger, chief of the German Gestapo in Japan, previously had told me Konoye was leader of the pro-American faction in the pre-war struggle with militarists, and had been Tojo's strongest opponent.

Army Named Tojo

When I asked Konoye if this were true, he replied affirmatively. The army, he said, named Tojo as war minister in a slight reshuffling of Konoye's cabinet in December 1940, and there was nothing he could do to oppose the appointment made by General, now field mar-

GOVERNMENT PLANS TO LEASE OR SELL BIG INCH PIPELINE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—(AP)—The government plans to sell or lease the big inch and little inch war emergency pipelines soon, an official disclosed today.

Operation of the big inch will be discontinued about October 15, said Sam H. Husbands, a director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The date will depend upon a finding by the petroleum administration for war that the propery no longer is needed for war purposes.

Sale or lease of the pipelines will be carried out by the surplus property board, Husbands added.

The big inch went into operation in February, 1943, and through August 1945, caried 260,750,000 barrels of crude oil from the Gulf to the Eastern Seaboard. Littel inch moved 107,125,00 barrels from March, 1944, through August, 1945.

HEROIC, TRAGIC SAGA OF "LOST BATTALION" TOLD BY SURVIVOR

BITTER DEFEAT, STARVATION, MISTREATMENT AND DISEASE INVOLVED

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(AP)—The heroic and tragic saga of Texas' famed "lost battalion" was told for the first time here yesterday.

It was a tale of bitter defeat, starvation, mistreatment and disease.

Tuesday, a half dozen survivors of the lost battalion," officially known as the 2nd batalion, 131st Field Artillery, 36th division, arrived at La Guardia airport after being flown from India, Egypt, England and Newfoundland.

One of the members of the Texas unit, Lt. Col. Winthrop Rogers, of Wichita Falls, Texas, acted as spokesman for the men.

The men of the 2nd battalion were known as the "Lost Battalion" when they were listed as missing in action for more than a year. They later were discovered to have been captured in Java in March, 1942.

Serviced Flying Fortresses.

Colonel Rogers said the men of the 131st landed in Java as artillerymen but wound up ground crewmen for 17 Flying Fortresses saved from the debacle in the Philippines. For three months Texan artillerymen serviced the planes, survivors of the 19th bombardment group.

Then they moved to west of Java where Rogers related at Buitenzorg "we ran into the Nips."

"There three battalions of Australians and our battalion, less E battery, which had stayed behind with the planes, held up three divisions of Nips for three and one-half days," he said.

Learned of Dutch Surrender.

Rogers then related that on March 14 the Texans moved south to Vandoeng, where on a nearby rubber plantation they learned the Dutch had surrendered six days earlier. He said they shot down a Jap Zero with a field piece.

The Japs appeared March 17 and

CHINESE-AMERICAN UNDERGROUND IS TOP SECRET OF THE WAR

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH

CHUNGKING, Sept. 13.—(AP)—SACO—The Chinese and American underground network which crisscrossed occupied China and on good authority actually reached into the Tokyo imperial palace—was revealed today as one of the top secrets of the war.

Guerrilla armies with which SACO worked now may be publicly credited with killing more than 25,000 Japanese in the past year.

Chinese and American partners in SACO—personnel of a naval group in China facetiously known as the "Rice Paddy Navy"—took the wraps off the organiation and its manifold hush-hush adventures.

The guidance of the Sino-American co-operative organization—SACO—came from two sides. The director was Tai Li, head of the Central government secret police. His deputy was Wilton S. Miles, 45 of Jerome, Ariz., imaginative and incisive American naval officer who was promoted from commodore to rear admiral juset a month ago.

Tai's organization, with which Miles has worked since a few weeks after Pearl Harbor, was far more than a secret police force. It provided the manpower for SACO—guerrilla armies, junk masters and crewmen who became saboteurs, anti-Japanese fifth columnists and agents of every description.

REPRESENTATIVES OF UNITED STATES GATHER IN LONDON

MEN NOW LOCATED IN EUROPE TO SEE SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES

By JOHN A. PARRIS, Jr.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—U. S. Representatives in Eastern and Southeastern Europe were gathering in London today for urgent consultations with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes on numerous touchy Balkan situations now before the big five council of foreign ministers.

Byrnes saw King Peter of Yugoslavia at Claridges hotel on the express invitation of the young exiled monarch. Later the secretary of State consulted with the Greek regent, Archbishop Damaskinos, at the American embassy. Another Byrnes conference was with Herbert Evatt, Australian foreign minister.

Diplomatic quarters considered significant the disclosure by the American embassy that the American diplomatic representatives were hurrying to London. Already here are Arthur Bliss Lane, American Ambassador to Poland, and Robert Patterson, ambassador to Yugoslavia.

Maynard Barnes, minister to Bulgaria, was expected here soon. Burton C. Berry, American representative on the allied control commission for Romania, was expected today or tomorrow.

Robert Gray, American minister to Eire, also will arrive here tomorrow.

Peter After U. S. Support.

Some diplomats said they believed King Peter was trying to gain American support for his view that Marshal Tito's regime in Yugoslavia was dictatorial, and that the situation demanded a reshuffle of authority.

Byrnes' talk with the Greek regent was believed linked both with a proposed peace treaty for Italy and Balkan politics.

Byrnes took advantage of a day recess in the conference of five leading foreign ministers. Staff representatives of the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France and China held secret conferences and studied documents which were so complicated as to postpone the third plenary sesion until Friday.

U. S. HOPES FOR QUICK AND VIGOROUS ACTION AGAINST JAPS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The United States hopes for quick and vigorous action against Japanese war criminals paralleling measures taken against German war criminals, it was learned today.

A high government authority made it clear that Washington hopes to apply to Japan the theory evolved by Robert Jackson, U. S. prosecutor in Germany, that persons responsible for starting an aggressive war should be adjudged guilty of war crimes.

It was also made evident that the same procedures for trying local war criminals at the scenes of their misdeeds and for joint allied trial of the Toi men is contemplated in respect to the Japanese problem.

At the same time, it was said that the immediate purpose of the American military in Korea should be to remove the Japanese conquerors of that long-occupied land from power but no evidence was offered here that a comprehensive policy on Korea has been drawn up.

MACARTHUR'S GRIST MILL IS GRINDING FINER AND FASTER IN EAST ASIA UNREST MATTER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst.

MacArthur's grist-mill is grinding finer and faster—an encouraging circumstance, since studied speed is vital.

The situation in East Asia as a whole is dangerous—and Japan is the focal point of the infection. It will require both adroit and quick handling to forestall an epidemic of discontent, and anti-western animosity, in the various countries. For while Japan is the main source of the evil which has descended upon that part of the world, yet because the allies are now in control they will get the blame if the disorganization isn't righted speedily.

In short, the Western allies are on trial in a big way in the Orient. Anyone who has studied the Far East at first hand knows that it long has harbored much suspicion of occidental motives. This is a mighty danger which either will be eliminated or accentuated, as allied efforts at rehabilitation—economic, political and social — succeed or falter.

So it is good to get General MacArthur's report that the occupation of Japan is proceeding smoothly. One notes in this connection that it's only a month since Tokyo surrendered—a short time to get a tight grip on a country which had some 3,000,000 crack troops still under arms, and the militaristic clique anxious for further trouble.

While the occupation was said to be going well in the Mikado's home domains, reports from other quarters weren't so optimistic. The Japanese high command in China says it may take several months to repatriate the million Jap soldiers there. And Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten says the Japs in Southeast Asia "are finding it very hard to accept defeat and may try to wriggle out of the terms of surrender."

Continued smooth progress in occupation of the Japanese homeland is bound to have a good effect on the Japs in other countries. It was to be expected that they would give some trouble until they had full understanding of their nation's defeat.

LIBERATED BARRY MARINE TELLS OF HIS LONG CAPTIVITY

THREE YEARS IN JAP PRISON CAMP DECLARED BE "LIVING HELL"

ABOARD A U. S. MERCY SHIP OFF TOYKO, Sept. 79.—(AP)—Three years in Kawasaki prison camp was described as "a living hell" by Marine Private First Class James E. Hinkle, 23, of Barry, Texas. The Texan was released Aug. 20 with other American war prisoners shortly after the fourth regiment landed in the Japanese homeland.

Captured January 8, 1941, along with 23 other marines, Hinkle was with the North China Force, embassy guard detachment at Teintsin. When captured they were waiting for the ships to return from the Philippines which have evacuated the "old" Fourth Marines.

"It's been a living hell under the Japanese," he said. "We were forced to work ten hours a day. Our food consisted of boiled maize and soy beans like the cows at home eat.

"We were never told of the progress of the war and anyone who asked questions was given a beating with a baseball bat. When new prisoners came into camp bits of information circulated and we were able to get a fairly clear picture of what was going on outside. That's what kept our courage up, I guess."

Hinkle added that the Japanese living quarters for internees were intolerable. Conditions were so crowded, he pointed out, that they were sleeping side by side with each others feet in their faces.

When they were first captured in Tientsin, they were taken to

TEMPERATURES DROP AS EARLY NORTHER SWEEPS OVER STATE

(By The Associated Press.)

Blustery winds beat down Texas temperatures yesterday (Wednesday) as an early norther swept the state.

Yesterday's winds and rain were gone but mercury readings remained unseasonably low today (Thursday)

The norther came from the northwest, where Raton, N. M., early today reported a low of 30 degrees.

Coolest spot in Texas this morning was Pampa with a low of 42 degrees. Amarillo reported 44.

Wettest spot yesterday was Brownsville, with 1.25 inches of rain which benefited crops. Corpus Christi received .62 inches. Rainfall ranged from traces to showers over most of South and East Texas, but none was reported in West Texas.

The forecast for most of the state was fair and continued cool today and tomorrow.

The weather's sudden change of pace caused damage in some sections. Howling winds and rain upset a circus crowd in Dallas. Two were injured seriously, and several others hurt slightly as the crowd under the big tent of Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey circus

Johnson Visits Pope.

JAP GOVERNMENT HAS ASKED PERMISSION TO MAKE OTHER ARRESTS

FORMALLY REPORTED IMPERIAL HEADQUARTERS HAVE BEEN ABOLISHED

TOKYO, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Eighth Army headquarters empowered the Japanese government today to round up the remaining Japanese on General MacArthur's "wanted" list.

No time limit was set but it was indicated that the government would have to show some progress within two days or the privilege would be withdrawn.

The government had asked permission to handle further arrests after Hideki Tojo, deposed wartime dictator, shot himself two days ago while American officers hammered at his door. Now in "satisfactory" condition and able to talk with correspondents today, Tojo had headed MacArthur's list of those sought for questioning about war crimes.

Japan today reported formally that its Imperial headquarters had been abolished in compliance with MacArthur's orders, and MacArthur announced that Gen. Walter Krueger of the Sixth Army and Vice Adm. Harry Hill of the Fifth Amphibious Force would enter Susebo, Kyushu, Sept. 20 to prepare for its occupation two days later.

Offers No Defense.

Tojo offered no defense of his militarist government which launched the Pearl Harbor attack, while Prince Fumimaro Konoye, present vice premier, blamed militarists like Tojo for his own failure to avert war.

Konoye, interviewed by Associated Press Correspondent Russell Brines, said he tried vainly to meet President Roosevelt in the summer of 1941 and believed he could have avoided the war by doing so, but the militarists and Japan's international reputation "as a liar," blocked the meeting.

"The Japanese government long have had a reputation as liars," he told Brines, "because they were unable to control Japanese militarists in the field, or often didn't know what the militarists were doing."

Prince Konoye called MacArthur today, Allied headquarters anonunced without amplification.

Knew War Was Lost.

Japan's business leaders emphasized in an interview today that both the militarists and the industrialists knew before surrender that the war was lost—before the first atomic bomb dropped, but that militarists wouldn't admit it and "we industrialists were too cowardly to speak out." The nation, they said, was industrially paralyzed and on the verge of starvation.

As Tojo, raised to a semi-sitting position, ate his first food since his attempted suicide Tuesday, others who had played major roles with him since the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor either were being rounded up or were doing a more effective job of self-elimination.

The navy minister in Tojo's infamous "Pearl Harbor cabinet,"

No Danger From Atomic Bomb In Japanese City

By MURLIN SPENCER

TOKYO, Sept. 13—(AP)—It now would be safe to live in the center of atom-bombed Hiroshima. There is no evidence that anyone who entered the area after the bombing died from radioactivity, Brig. Gen. T. F. Farrell reported today.

Taking cognizance of Japanese stories that relief parties entering the area to assist in evacuation were injured seriously, Farrell stated that those personnel already were in the area and were caught there by the blast.

"No measurable radioactivity was found under the point of detonation or elsewhere on the ground, streets, in ash cans or on other materials," on Sept. 8 and 9 by an American mission investigating effects of the bomb, said Farrell, who heads the group. The bomb was dropped Aug. 6.

Col. Stafford Warren, Rochester, N. Y., a member of the mission said many persons still may die from initial effects of the explosion, but it will be difficult to determine whether from radioactivity or other injuries caused by the bomb.

Reporting on destructiveness of at atomic bomb, which was set to explode above ground, Farrell said that for a radius of one and a quarter miles from the point of detonation the area, including Japanese military headquarters, was completely demolished. To a radius of two miles, everything was blasted, with some structures set afire. Between two and three miles, damage generally was slight. There was roof damage up to five miles and glass was broken up to 12 miles.

He emphasized that these were preliminary reports and that additional studies would be made from every angle. Some members of the commission expected to go to Nagasaki, where the second atomic bomb was dropped, today.

LARGE NUMBER OF CALVES BE ENTERED AT CORSICANA FAIR

Navarro county 4-H Club Boys and Future Farmers of America are set to exhibit the largest number of calves shown since the beginning of the war in the Boys Beef Cattle Show at the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show opening in Corsicana September 18, according to Frank M. Gracey, assistant county agent in charge of preparations for the beef cattle show.

Indications are that between forty and fifty claves will be shown by Navarro county boys from surrounding counties, Gracey said, stating that besides the Navarro county entries, 4-H club and FFA members from Ellis, Limestone, and other near-by counties are expected to bring calves to the Corsicana show.

Owners of Calves.

Animals already listed to enter include the following owners from Navarro county: Wayne, Milton and Kenneth Johnston, Roane; Eddie Dayo, Dawson; Desmond Williams, Zions Rest; Jimmie Hooser, Frost; Ferral Lesley, Purdon; Bill and Bob Ferguson, Corsicana; Robert Bain, Kerens; Dickey and Billy Watson, Barry. A number of entries by FFA members in the county have not been listed, the assistant county agent said. Fifteen entries will be made by boys from the State Home.

Animals usually shown in this class are predominantly white-face, Gracey reported, but other breeds are also represented. Entries will be divided into three classes, milk fed, including calves conditionad with the aid of a nurse cow, dry lot fed calves fed under six months and dry lot fed calves fed over six months.

Judging Starts Wednesday.

Calves are to be on the grounds by Tuesday and remain throughout the show, with judging scheduled for 10 a. m. Wednesday. George W. Barnes, Extension Animal husbandryman from College Station will judge.

The owners will have an opportunity to sell their calves at an auction sale to be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock. This sale will enable boys who wish to do so to turn their efforts into cash, but it is hoped that many of the young owners will retain the animals to feed until spring, Gracey stated.

All entries in the boys beef cattle show must have been fed and cared for by the 4-H club member, under the supervision of an agricultural agent or vocational agricultural teacher, and the boys must offer proof that the entries are the fruits of their own labor.

Interest Keen.

Though the 1945 show may bring the largest number of entries shown here for some time, interest in this portion of the fair has been keen since its beginning in 1938, and the entry of a prized calf has been the thrill of many a 4-H club and FFA member in this section since that date.

Prizes range from a $25 war bond for the Grand Champion Calf, through $20, $15, $10 and on down to $3. Bronnie McNabb, 4-H club member from Emhouse took the Grand Champion prize with his 1,080-pound white faced calf from the J. N. Edens herd, and the eyes of many calf owners are on that grand prize at this time, with hopes running high in expectation of the winning of the various other prizes offered for winning entries in the calf show.

LIVESTOCK EXHIBIT AT CORSICANA FAIR TO BE OUTSTANDING

Final plans are being made this week for the livestock department of the ninth annual exposition of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show, Sept. 18-22. Fine livestock, particularly cattle, has been one of the outstanding features of this Central-East Texas exposition since its inception and the 1945 presentation will measure up to the high standards of former years. More interest is being shown in the various divisions than during the years the war was in progress..

Livestock divisions are Hereford, Brahman, boy's beef calves, dairy cattle, milking shorthorns, swine and and poultry.

Hereford Exhibit

R. L. Wheelock of Corsicana, president of the Texas Hereford Association, is chairman of the Hereford division. There will be an exhibition of fine Hereford cattle from J. N. Edens, president of the fair association; Wheelock, H. R. Stroube, R. L. Harris, and others, but there will not be any contest for prizes this year.

J. Harry Burke is chairman of the registered Brahman breeding cattle division and a regular Brahman show is scheduled with prizes and honors in the various classes. The American Brahman Breeders association is co-operating in the premiums listed in that division.

Dairy Cattle

J. R. Hardt is chairman of the dairy cattle section with competition restricted to Navarro and adjoining counties. Jersies and Guernseys are scheduled to be exhibited and judged.

Wm. F. Echkardt is chairman of the milking shorthorns.

A boys 4-H club dairy show will be sponsored.

Mark DeWitt and H. B. Bomar are chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the poultry department. Premiums and awards apply to all standard breeds and varieties.

C. K. Cate is in charge of the swine department with awards slated for Duroc Jersey, class I; Poland China (all types), class II; Hampshire, class III, and O.I.C., class IV.

Pig Show

The Sears pig show from four counties will also attract considerable interest.

H. C. Robinson is in charge of boys' beef calf show.

A delegation of prominent Fort Worth citizens plan to attend the opening day of the fair, it has been learned here.

F. E. Deen, general manager of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Fort Worth, will head the delegation from the Tarrant county capital, along with the mayor and others. J. M. North, Jr., editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and a director and vice president of the Texas Hereford Association; W. A. King, manager of the agriculture and livestock department, Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, and others plan to be in the Cowtown contingent that is scheduled to arrive in Corsicana about noon Tuesday.

Miss Willowdean Drummond who has spent the past two weeks in the home of her grandmother Mrs. J. N. Royall, returned to her home in Waco on Tuesday to resume her studies at Baylor University where she is now a Sophomore student.

The victim, a six-year-old boy living on East Eleventh, is not thought to be in a critical condition. He is Navarro county's 15th victim of the dread disease.

"We must continue to be vigilant, especially during the hot months, if we are to keep polio quelled," Dr. Miller said. "Observe all the sanitary rules and regulations to help combat the disease."

COMMUNITIES PLAN MANY EXHIBITS AT AGRICULTURAL SHOW

Several communities already have indicated they will praticipate in the Community Exhibit division of the annual Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show, Sept. 18-22.

Frost, Drane, Emhouse, Dawson, and Navarro will prepare displays, and the Hamilton-Beeman Assn., will be in charge of another exhibit. Many other communities are expected to make application for display space this week.

Exhibits may be sponsored by churches, Parent-Teacher Associations or any organization representative of the community. A chairman and co-chairman will supervise the preparation and display of the products.

Only products raised, produced or made in a community will be allowed in the exhibit and no part may be purchased other than containers or materials in setting up the booths.

The community winning first place will be given $75; second place, $50; third place, $35; fourth place, $25; and fifth place, $15.

Exhibits will be judged on point and competitive basis. Appearance of exhibit, quality and variety will be considered by the judges.

TWENTY-EIGHT IOOF HOME STUDENTS NOW IN CITY SCHOOLS

Twenty-eight IOOF Home children attended school in Corsicana Monday, the opening day of the 1945-1946 session.

The IOOF Home students attend the city schools on a contract basis from the Home Independent district.

There are eleven in the senior high school, four in junior high school and 13 in the Robert E. Lee ward school, a check with the principals Tuesday revealed.

The IOOF Home students have attended the Corsicana schools for the past several years since the small number of children at the Home make conducting the independent school there inadvisable.

Voting On Four Amendments Very Costly To County

Contention in some quarters that a number of election boxes in Navarro county should be consolidated by the commissioners court is substantiated by figures on the recent election held on four proposed Constitutional amendments the re-allocation proposition and the suggested detachment of a segment of Navarro county to Henderson county.

Not including the cost of delivery of notices, the printing of the ballots, and other incidental expenses, the pay of election judges and associates cost 65 cents per vote throughout the county. The election judges checks amounted to $1,096.50 while the total number of votes cast were 1,655.

Two Boxes Eliminated

The court reduced the number of voting precincts last year from 48 to 46 with the consolidating of Spring Hill with Dawson and the consolidating of Black Hills with White's Chapel.

Elections were not held in the recent balloting at Cade and Rushing, both in the southern section of the county.

High cost per vote were recorded in many of the smaller boxes, records at the courthouse indicate.

Voting Comes High

There were seven votes cast at Rodney, with a cost of $22, or $3.15 per vote; Eldorado, a neighboring box to Rodney in the southwest corner of the county, came in with eight votes and $17 expense. Roane in northeastern Navarro county accounted for 11 votes for $22, $2 per vote.

Blildon in southern Navarro county had 11 votes at a cost of $18. Petty's Chapel southeast of Corsicana polled six votes at a cost of $17. Raleigh in central-West Navarro county came in with seven votes at a cost of $22, $3.15 per vote while Barrett, in middle-east Navarro county, had six votes, at a cost of $17.

Largest Box

Ward 3 Corsicana, the largest box in the county polled only 225 votes and cost $62 an average o. 23 cents per vote.

The cost in elections where there is unusual interest will be proportionately lower as the crews holding the balloting can handle hundreds in a day's time.

Reduction in the number of voting precincts where practicable and desirable not only saves the county money in elections, but also the candidates in the democratic primary elections.

There will be several elections next year with their attendant cost. There will be the customary first and second democratic primary elections, conducted and controlled by the democratic executive committee without any cost to or control of the county.

There has been considerable talk about a probable beer election next spring. This will not be requested until most of the boys in the armed forces return home, according to those in favor of such an election.

Then there will be the general election the first Tuesday in November, 1946, and another election two days later because of an error made last year by the Legislature.

A reduction in the number of election boxes will reduce the expense of elections not only next year but in all years to come.

Some consolidations could be effected without materially inconveniencing the voters residing within the areas affected, it is believed in many circles.

Waco State Home To Enter Animals

Waco State Home will enter animals in the annual Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show, Sept. 18-22, Ben S. Peek, superintendent, has notified Fair officials.

The Home will enter two fat barrows in the Boys FFA division, and the following in the registered Jersey division: One cow, four heifers and four bulls.

Miss Addie Lou Simmons arrived Monday from Vallejo, Calif., where she spent the summer months working for the navy department at Mare Island shipyard. She will spend a few days with her mother, Mrs. Esther H. Simmons, before returning to Texas City to teach for the ensuing school year.

The height of the gospel standard is perfection. Heb. 6:1-2 exhorts: "Wherefore leaving the doctrine of the first principles of Christ, let us press on unto perfection". The first principals are the commands a person obeys to become a Christian. Having become a Christian he is to leave the first principles and press on toward perfection.

Let not the Christian become discouraged if he has not reached perfection. Paul knew that he hadn't attained it. He said: "Brethren, I count not myself to have laid hold: but one thing I do forgetting the things that are behind and stretching forward to the things that are before, I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God."

It may seem to one if he could climb a certain mountain that he could reach the sky. Yet after having climbed to the top the sky is just as far away. After years in the Christian life we can still grow in grace and knowledge of the Lord.

Be not afraid if you are not perfect. Be afraid if you are not trying to become more perfect.

You are cordially invited to all services at—

MRS. W. W. SMITH, PIONEER RESIDENT OF DAWSON, DIES

Mrs. W. W. Smith, aged 86 years, pioneer resident of Dawson, died at her home in Dawson Tuesday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock following a short illness.

Funeral services were held from the Dawson Baptist church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock with interment in the Dawson cemetery.

A native of Mississippi, Mrs. Smith came to to Dawson with her family in 1896 and had resided there since that time.

Her late husband, W. W. Smith, died Sept. 2, 1932.

Mrs. Smith had been a member of the Baptist church practically all of her life.

Surviving are three sons, W. H. Smith, New Orleans; Earl Smith, Dawson; and J. Floyd Smith, Corsicana; five daughters, Mrs. Clint Pitts, Mrs. O. B. Dean, Mrs. R. M. Shull, Mrs. Guy Davis and Mrs. W. Y. Cannon, all of Dawson, and 20 grandchildren.

A son, the late Walter Smith of Rice, deputy assessor and collector of taxes of Navarro county, died three weeks ago.

The First National Bank was closed from 10 to 11 a.m. for the funeral.

Governor Urges All Salvage Committees "Stay On The Job"

Gov. Coke Stevenson has asked the Navarro county war salvage committee to "stay on the job lest the reconversion program be impaired."

The communication was received by Fred Prince, salvage chairman, who simultaneously announced another big tin can pickup for Sunday, Oct. 7.

"WPB Chairman Krug has pointed out that although the shooting phase of the war has ended, a war of supplies now is being waged and so long as there are bottlenecks to reconversion because of shortages of such raw materials as paper, fats, oils and tin, not only the volunteer salvage committees but every man, woman and child must continue to cooperate," Governor Stevenson said.

"Obviously," the letter continued, "this war is not over for a soldier until he comes home and has a job. We must make the jobs by supplying the raw materials."

Miss Exa Matlock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Matlock of Frost has returned to Conroe to resume her teaching duties.

Unheard From For Over Year, Missing Soldier Returns

Believed by his mother to be either lost or dead, Pvt. Hershell Baker is very much alive.

He walked into his mother's home—she is Mrs. Effie Rutherford, 423 South Twelfth street—one night recently, kissed her soundly and said "Hello, folks." It was the first, and best, word she had had from her son in more than a year.

Private Baker, with the Army Air Corps, served in all of the European Theatres. His letters to his mother were returned to him; her letters to him likewise found their way back to Corsicana, undelivered. The Red Cross tried to solve the mystery of the missing soldier to no avail.

Hershell, a former Daily Sun carrier boy, was last heard from in the fall of 1944.

Mrs. J. M. Cole of Frost has accepted a position with the J. M. Dyer Department store.

PANOLA GAS FIELD GRIEVANCE WOULD BE GIVEN AIRING

CARTHAGE, Tex., Sept. 13—(AP)—The Panola county Royalty Association with a membership of more than 600 today circulated a petition seeking a hearing between Sept. 20 and Sept. 25 before the Texas Railroad Commission to present certain grievances it claims exist in the huge Panola gas field.

Thirty-five hundred signatures were sought.

The purpose of the hearing, according to the association, would be to submit a complete picture to the commission as a step to have corrected grievances farmers and landowners feel they have suffered at the hands of some operators.

S. E. Matthews, a member of the association's executive committee, said the association sought for the landowners one-eighth royalty from the gas and all by-products. At present, he said, they receive only an eighth royalty at the well.

Test cases have been filed in District Court here and the first was scheduled for trial on Sept. 18.

Other members of the executive committee include O. V. Mullins O. W. Alexander, J. D. Furrh, Miss Margie E. Neal, Mayor A. L. Davis, E. C. Powers, A. E. Meador and Reagon Taylor.

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson and Attorney General Grover Sellers would be invited to attend the hearing.

FORTY-FOUR MONTHS OF PRIVATION AND ABUSE IS RELATED

KUNMING, China Sept. 13.—(AP)—Forty-four months of privation and ill-treatment were related by 21 gaunt survivors of Bataan and Corregidor, flown here for medical treatment.

The men, including five Texans, told how they were forced to slave at Jap-operated factories, and of the filthy conditions at their Mukden prison camp. Many of the veterans had participated in the notorious Bataan death march.

One of the death march veterans, Sgt. Earl W. Guye of Houston, Texas, said the temperature at Mukden often was 40 degres below zero, "and the worst part of the life," he related, "was the lack of warm clothing almost everyone in the camp contracted pleurisy, pneumonia or other exposure diseases."

Other prisoners told how they were forced to strip while the Japanese serached for contraband cigarettes which the men bought from Chinese working in the factories.

They said that the whole camp's rations were cut drastically as mass punishment when one of the Americans let up on the job or smoked in an unauthorized place. Red Cross parcels were also held up they said.

The men scaid the meals were the same every day. Breakfast: Cornmeal mush and a bun. Lunch: maize and beans. Dinner: beans and bun.

Texans among the group, besides Buye, were: Pfc. Lonnie M. Johnson. Jr., Dallas; Pvt. James N. Bowen, Weiner; Pvt. Herman R. Ross, Houston; and Pvt. Mervin H. Suttle, Pampa.

INTERNATIONAL PUNISHMENT

Plans are shaping up at last for the long delayed trial of 24 Nazi leaders for war crimes, and Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief U. S. prosecutor, is in Germany on the job. It is a notable innovation, with nothing like it in modern history, and its progress and method will be observed keenly by the whole civilized world.

In the past, war crimes perpetrated by powerful statesmen against neighboring countries have usually been regarded as merely the bad luck of the victims, without recourse except in world opinion. But when international crimes are taken in hand by determined leaders on an international basis, such as is attempted in this case, there is a prospect of real world progress.

MAKING GOOD

Maybe the old-time alchemists were right after all. They spent much time and energy in trying to turn other substances into gold, while practical people told them that if they wanted to get rich they should stick to manual labor. Scientists since then have said that the alchemists were on a hopeless quest, and that the whole idea was as impossible as perpetual motion.

Atomic researches have indicated the contrary; and now that the atom has been split, the process is much easier. Mining experts say that already gold can be made from mercury and lead, and atom - splitting will make the process both easier and cheaper.

Gold might even become the cheapest commodity in the world, according to a Chilean chemist. We might realize the old-time foreigners' dream of America, as a land where streets were paved with gold.

But drivers would probably like concrete better.

HOLDING DOWN PRICES

In the matter of price levels, Administrator Chester Bowles follows John Hay's famous ballad of Jim Bludso's struggle for victory on the Erie Canal, and is determined to "hold her nozzle agin the bank till the last galoot's ashore." And maybe longer yet. It is one of those "experiments noble in purpose" which usually don't get as much support from a careless public as they deserve. Countless millions of dollars are involved in that intelligent effort, but consumers in general pay too little attention to it.

Nobody at Washington can do the whole job of holding prices steady. A little intelligent cooperation around the country, from time to time, will put more butter in the pantry, more meat on the table, more sugar in the bowl, more new shoes on the children's feet, and more savings in the bank.

NO MORE NEWSPRINT

The paper ban is lifted for books and magazines. They can have as much as they can pay for. No longer will books that continued to sell go out of print because the firm's quota of paper has been exhausted. Publishers, authors and the reading public will all rejoice.

"What about us?" the newspapers will ask. Newsprint paper is in a different class, and there is no immediate prospect of enlarging the supply. Your favorite paper will continue to skimp for some time. But newspapers will take courage from the luck that has befallen their book-publishing brethren, and hope for a good time coming.

A CLOSE SHAVE

"Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small." It is so with the once great and powerful "Third Reich" now stripped of its glory and power, with its leaders brought chringing before the bar of international justice to answer for their crimes.

Hitler has gone the way of all flesh, we hope, and there are many to follow—some to the gallows and others to long imprisonment. Goering and Hess and Ribbentrop and Ley and Schacht and von Bohlen and Halbach, the great and near-great, the braggarts and the slinkers, little by little disgorge their stolen pelf and shed their gradeur, and line up for their inevitable punishment and lasting shame. In the Pacific area the killers and looters are rounded up at last for their doom and the dawn of a better way of life.

So, little by little, the world begins to cleanse itself from the most perilous plague of rascals that has polluted this earth for many generations. The sane and gentle and wise begin to function again in a civilization that still shudders at its narrow escape, and turns uneasily to contemplate the dangers it has overcome.

MODERN BARBARISM

"Hunger, humiliation and bestial beatings" have been the lot of hundreds, perhaps thousands, of American prisoners, who by the fortunes of war came into the hands of the Japanese. And these outrages have been contrary to the rules of war to which the Japs themselves subscribed before the war began.

For all this, and in order to lay the groundwork for real prevention hereafter, the people guilty of such crimes must be made to pay as criminals do in peace time. Otherwise civilized standards of war and peace would sink lower and lower, until our modern way of life failed and ended in a new and more hideous barbarism than any we have known.

The Germans in the last days of the war had learned to make butter out of coal. Nothing is said about their learning to make roast beef out of tree leaves. Except for that, the Nazis seem to have vanquished rationing. Theoretically, only.

There seems to be an argument now as to whether grandma should wear a sun suit—but who's going to stop her?

The OPA has its faults, but how would you like to live in Bolivia, where living costs increased 14 times between 1933 and 1943.

The Japs are reported as "stunned" when the American fleet entered Tokyo Bay, but they ain't seen nothing yet.

There are a lot of "hands across the sea" now reaching for a handout—and can you blame the hungry handouters?

The fellows who have saved up their money for a new car are getting impatient, but it won't be long now.

Most of the world has not yet learned the merits of milk-guzzling.

There's much to learn and much to do, the men of science say,
And many a triumph's waiting for the youngsters of today.

"Research, research" is now the cry that goes the world around
The better way, for countless tasks,
by searching can be found.
And eager boys, and boys alert who question how and why
Will noticed be among the throng and given a chance to try.

'Twas always so and will be so unto the end of time
The older men will welcome lads who show the wish to climb.
Today they're setting funds aside to search for methods new
And search the crowds for likely boys tomorrow's work to do.

PRINCE KONOYE

shal, Shunroku Hata, former war minister. From then on, said Konoye, Tojo's power increased.

However Tojo and his backers still favored continued negotiations with the United States, and Tojo as late as August, 1941, had approved Konoye's plan to see President Roosevelt, the Prince explained.

"Up until then the army was undecided whether to accede to the basic American requirement that it withdraw completely from China," Konoye asserted, but by October Tojo's attitud changed, and when my cabinet fell on Oct. 16, 1941, I knew that war was inevitable but I did not know just how or when it would come."

Controversy With Tojo

In the one-hour interview, in which I talked alone to Konoye, he said his resignation actually came about in a controversy with Tojo over whether negotiations should continue.

The conversations with the United States were inaugurated by Konoye in April, 1941, he said "with full confidence that war could be averted."

Shortly thereafter he officially suggested to the United States that he and President Roosevelt meet personally. Washington agreed and Honolulu was tentatively mentioned as the scene.

Meanwhile Konoye said, the negotiations became entangled with the unsolved problems of Japan's activities in China.

"Finally," he said Washington made clear that such a meeting would be useless unless three problems were settled:

Three Problems

"First, Japan's adherence to the Tripartite (Axis) pact; second, removal of Japanese forces from China; and third, financial and economic problems in China.

"In the controversy with the militarists, I had one remaining weapon—an appeal through the Throne. If I had been able to converse with Mr. Roosevelt I am confident I could have brought back enough assurance of prospects of peace—even if the basic problems were then unsolved—to convince the Throne to intervene".

Konoye said that when the Japanese surrender decision finally was made, the Emperor made it "on his own responsibility."

Tojo's attitude towards negotiation hardened and the army decided not to get out of China mainly because of the clamor of the young militarists, "who were convinced then that they could defeat the United States."

Started by Militarists

Discussing the 1937 outbreak of the China war, when he was Premier for the first time, oKnoye said, "as had happened several times before, the militarists in the field started the Peking incident without knowledge of my government, and the government had to chase after them.

"Ever since the China conflict began I regretted it. I made every possible effort to end it by first attempting to keep it a localized incident in North China and then by attempting mediation through Germany.

The China Incident

"Finally I turned toward improved relations with the United States. In the final analysis, the basic cause of the Pacific war was the refusal of the Japanese militarists to remove troops from China, but I don't think the China incident led inevitably to the Pacific conflict."

Konoye, who originated the Imperial rule assistance association in 1940 and eliminated political parties, contended that "there was no intention to pattern the association after Nazism or Fascism.

"Our political parties also had removed themselves from the people and were serving their own ends. The association was intended to provide a closer link between the civil government and the people in order to control the militarists.

It Didn't Work

"But it didn't work. In the end the militarists took hold of the idea and used it for their own purposes."

Konoye said that in the pre-Pearl Harbor domestic struggle none of the major industrialists supported the military in demanding war against the United States. "The navy always was known as more moderate than the army," and many of its old line Admirals also opposed the war.

Asked if the special "peace envoy," Saburo Kurusu, had known about Pearl Harbor attack plans before his flying trip to Washington, Konoye replied, "I was out of the government by then and have no definite information, but my belief is that Kurusu went to Washington as a gentleman and had no knowledge that an attack was imminent."

Nearly Inch Of Rain Fall Here Wednesday

Rainfall here Wednesday afternoon was .95 of an inch. Light sprinkles to heavy showers fell over the county and were accompanied by considerable lightning and some wind. No damage was reported.

Cotton picking, which was getting well under way, was stopped particularly in the areas of the heaviest rains.

Shanghai where they remained in a prison camp for two months. While there the Marines were assigned with labor units in erecting a miniature monument of Mount Fujiyama.

Later the detachment was split up and Hinkle was transferred to Kawasaki prison camp, Japan, where he has been confined since. He worked in a steel mill during his internment there.

He was transferred to the Omari prison camp near Tokyo on August 16, shortly after the Japs offered to surrender to the allies.

"They never told us that Japan was surrendering," he said, "but we knew what was happening. We were treated much better there and knew nothing short of surrender could have caused such an improvement in our living conditions.

"But," he continued, "you don't forget three years of hell in 14 days."

Hinkle has not been in the United States for six years. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hinkle, also reside at Barry, Texas.

Lieut. Col. John Harris Montfort, U. S. Army Air Forces, Randolph Field, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, Ann, returned to San Antonio Monday following a several days' visit with Col. Montfort's mother, Mrs. H. E. Montfort, of Corsicana, and other relatives.

WHEN G. I. Cotton COMES HOME FROM THE WARS
HE'S GOT A TOUGH GANG TO FIGHT!

Smart, fast, hard-hitting competitors are fighting to knock cotton out of its peacetime job. They are spending millions of dollars on scientific research and advertising to get their products used in place of cotton. Back up cotton in the toughest fight of its history. It can't win without you.

Cotton WON'T FAIL—WITH 10¢ A BALE

The threats which face cotton in postwar years are dramatically portrayed in a series of six advertisements being used by the industry in its drive for a two million dollar postwar "fighting fund." Shown above is a reproduction of the first advertisement of the series. It is currently being sent to cotton ginners, buyers, crushers, and warehousemen in Navarro county by the National Cotton Council. Succeeding advertisements to be displayed in Navarro county at two-week intervals, each deal with one of the five "toughs" shown in the initial drawing.

PACIFIC WAR

is based upon "nothing," they commented.

Prince Konoye Talks

Prince Fumimaro Konoye, prewar premier and present vice premier, told Associated Press Correspondent Russell Brines today that his resignation in October, 1941, resulted from arguments with Tojo over continuing peace negotiations.

Teling how he tried to arrange a conference with the late President Roosevelt, Konoye said:

"I feel confident that if I had been able to see President Roosevelt, I could have established a basis for interventiodn of the imperial house (Emperor) in the rising war tide within Japan." But Tojo took over the government, and "I knew war was inevitable."

Admiral Shimado Surrenders

Tojo's navy minister, Adm. Shigetaro Shimado, surrendered quietly at him home to an American officer. His name is on General MacArthur's list of 47 "wanted" men. Said the admiral, to a request that he hurry: "Be quiet. No suicide, no. suicide."

Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama, however, killed himself with a pistol at his office near the palace; "as I was in an important post, I keenly feel my responsibility," he told his aide. Sugiyama, former war minister and one of Japan's three field mashals, had planned to lead the defense of the Tokyo area against the expected American invasion.

More Suicides Expected

More suicides were expected as the hunt for others named on MacArthur's list went forward. High on the list is Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, of Bataan infamy, who had slipped away to his home on an island off western Japan. Seven others were named as leaders of the Black Dragon Society, now ordered dissolved, but Japanese said two of the seven were dead and a third ha no connection with the militaristic society.

Premier Naruhiko Migashi-Kuni called today's cabinet session after learning of MacArthur's 47-name list of "wanted" Japanese. Sources close to the government said cabinet members probably would be asked if their own background could stand close Allied inspection.

Occupation went forwaid peacefully and MacArthur informed the Japanese government today that Gen. Walter Krueger of the Sixth Army and Vice Adm. Harry Hill, commanding the Fifth amphibious force, will reach Sasebo, northwest Kyushu, Sept. 20 to prepare for troop landings there two days later.

On Guam, Admiral Nimitz cautioned that Japanese are telling Americans what they think Americans want to hear—and their statements should be taken with "a grain of salt."

Referring particularly to Japanese talk about air power winning the war, he said: "I don't think our people should be thrown off base by accepting that. Air power was the spearhead and the sharp edge of the cutting knife but the rest of the knife was there, too, and seapower brought it there."

Americans to Get Home

KANDY, Ceylon, (Delayed)—(AP)—The end of the war means that approximately 190,000 members of the American armed forces in the India-Burma-Theater and about 65,000 more in China will be going home within a few months.

Transport home has been promised as soon as shipping space becomes available. A preliminary announcement said some men could hope to be home by Thanksgiving and others by Christmas.

Relieved of Duties

CONGRESS

Some law makers shouted just as angrily as ever about military discharges being too slow. Others were less critical. Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said that during the war the army was going 90 miles an hour in one direction and just couldn't reverse at the same speed.

As for the Pearl Harbor facts: It was learned that the navy has renewed its plea for continued secrecy for portions of the naval inquiry board's report on the 1941 disaster. These portions have to do with breaking the Japanese code

But some members of the senate naval committee, which has the full naval report, say the, believe the public ought to be given the whole story. A 10-man congressional committee will start an A to Z investigation of Pearl Harbor shortly.

Gathering Speed.

Meantime the law-making machinery is gathering speed. Here is the situation on four proposa's that moved ahead yesterday:

1. Left-over war goods. The senate followed the house and passed a bill to snuff out the three-man surplus property board and substitute one boss (probably W. Stuart Symington.) President Truman is sure to sign it, because he asked for it.

2. Standard Time. The house passed a bill to turn America's clocks back one hour on Sept. 30. The senate is expected to do likewise.

3. Government Corporations. The house passed the Whittington bill which would bring federal corporations—like RFC and HOLC—under stricter congressional control. This action actually was a victory for the TVA and the Farm Credit agencies, for they are exempt from certain controls provided for in the bill.

Senate Version.

They are not exempt under the senate version, the Byrd-Butler bill, which has been gathering dust for months in the senate banking committee. It's up to that committee now to decide what to do about the house-approved measure.

4. Airports. The senate passed a bill to put up federal cash for a big program of airport building. The house has a different version before it, but hasn't acted on it yet.

The senate-approved bill would grant $75,000,000 a year, for five years—to be matched by states and cities. That would total $375,000,000. The house version, okayed by the house interstate commerce committee, would grant $650,000,000 over a ten-year period, not more than $100,000,000 in any one year.

Jobless Pay Bill.

The senate finance committee expected to put the finishing touches on its unemployment compensation bill today.

The committee has carved this bill considerably. But it was learned that the new version meets all of Mr. Truman's "must" requirements—even though the original idea of increasing weekly payments to the unemployed has been ditched.

Mr. Truman was understood to have told the committee in a memo that the bigger weekly payments were "desirable but not indispensable."

He said the "must" provisions were:' Benefits lasting 26 weeks in all states; benefits for federal employes, and travel pay for stranded workers. All those provisions are still in the bill.

1,3,000,000 Army Releases

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—(AP)—The army expects to release an additional 1,300,000 men by Christmas, a war department spokesman told Senators today.

With approximately 700,000 already released since V-E Day, this will mean a reduction of 2,000,000 in army strength since Germany's defeat.

Maj. Gen. S. G. Henry, assistant chief of staff, told the Senate military committe that demobilization was running ahead of schedule with an estimated 400,000 being released in September instead of a planned 250,000.

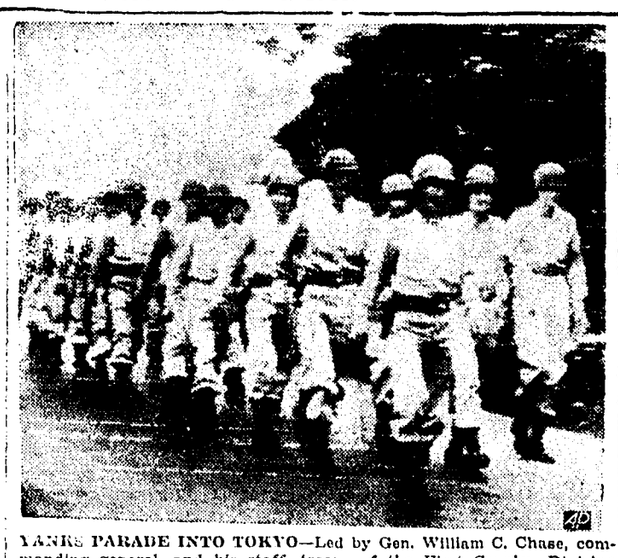

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Japan's notorious Black Dragon Society came under congressional scrutiny today.

Some members of the House committee investigating un-American activities have agreed to look into suspected operatinos in America by the secret organization.

As a preliminary move, it was learned, the legislators plan to ask Gen. Douglas MacArthur to seize the society's files in Japan. Names found there then will be used to check reported actions in this nation.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) said he believes the society is hard at work in America, adding:

"The tentacles of the Black Dragon definitely are penetrating into the Southern States, and they must be cut off immediately."

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

YOKOSUKA NAVAL BASE, Japan—(AP)—Some soldiers mope in prison. Some go mad. And some American prisoners in Japan held on to sanity by making little "memory books" of their past lives.

These books helped them to forget the winter cold, the lack of food, the hard labor and, at times, the brutal torture.

One of the most interesting "memory books" was made by a Marine private whom we shall call Oscar.

Oscar, whose true name can't be given until his relatives are notified he is alive and safe, enlisted in the Marines in 1939 and served in Shanghai before the war. He was taken prisoner Jan. 2, 1942, while in a Manila hospital under treatment for dengue fever.

During his imprisonment at Ashiro prison camp in Japan, he managed to obtain some sheets of paper and a strand of copper wire. From these, he fashioned his "memory book."

He put his name and rank in big letters on the front cover and on the back cover drew an angel of peace and victory" and an American flag flying over a cross marked "lest we forget." He even managed to find a piece of red crayon to color the stars in the flag.

Then in his odd hours he set down the memories. First he made a calendar and crossed off the days as he circled the 15th of August, when he first heard of Hirohito's capitulation, and September 5, the day he was freed.

He then listed significant dates in his Marine service and names and addresses of all his fellow prisoners. Next he recorded a bet with another prisoner that an armistice would be signed at an hour closer to nine a.m. than noon. The bet was for "two wash basins, two apple pies, two jellyrolls and four malted milks, payable at first opportunity." Oscar won. The Japanese envys signed shortly after nine o'clock on the battleship Missouri.

Oscar next listed all cities he had ever visited, his favorite jazz songs, and all the clothes he wanted to buy when he got home.

He set down all the holidays he could remember and followed that with a list of important anniversaries in his life. One notation said "mother's birthday" and five spaces below it was August blank, 1938,—mother buried."

Oscar then noted down all mountains he had seen, all theaters he had visited, all night clubs he had ever been in and schools he had attended.

Oscar composed several sentimental and light spirited songs and poems.

Tomorrow I will give you some songs and poems by Oscar, poet laureate of Ashiro prison camp.

(This is the first of several columns giving prisoner of war sidelights.)

THE NATION TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The prophets are at it again. Now they're predicting President Truman's political future.

It goes something like this:

1. Mr. Truman's chances for re-election in 1948 depend upon what happens to the 21-point program he gave Congress last week.

2. Upon passage of that program depend the democratics' chances for winning the 1946 and 1948 congressional elections.

That sounds odd, for these reasons:

1. It's too soon to be positive about the effect of the success—or failure—of the Truman program upon him or his democrats.

2. Too many things can happen between now and election time to change the voters' thinking, whether the program goes through in full or not.

3. Mr. Truman's popularity is still riding wide. This alone, if he retains it, will be a big factor in the future of himself and his party.

His program cuts two ways. Some of it is to solve immediate problems. Some is long-range. like full employment, housing, public works.

Perhaps failure of congress to put through the program will affect this country critically. But when? Soon enough for it to affect the voters' thinking in the 1946 or 1948 elections?

The key to our prosperity is full employment, or rather a lack of wide unemployment.

Unemployment is growing now. It will continue, for a while at least.

Then, economists inside and outside government think, employment should grow as industry gets going.

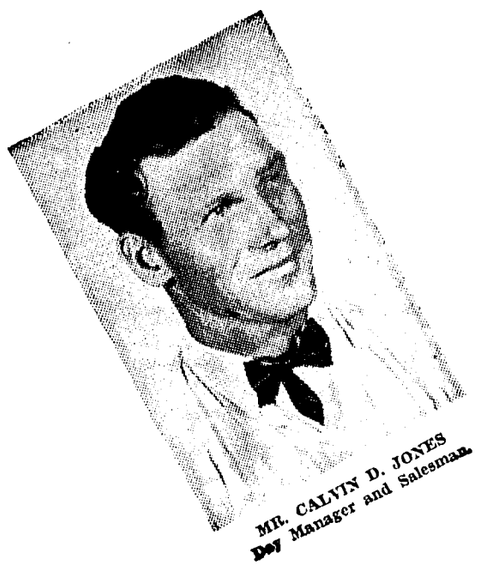

The point is: How long will fairly full employment last?

If it starts before the 1946 elections and lasts through 1948 it undoubtedly will do Mr. Truman and his democrats a lot of good.

Driver's License Campaign Success

A driver's license campaign inaugurated in Corsicana several weeks ago is showing results, according to Chief of Police Bruce Nutt.

More and more motorists are applying at the Navarro county courthouse for driver's licenses, he said.

"It is not necessary for those motorists whose licenses have expired within the past two years to take an examination," Chief Nutt asserted.

Corsicana traffic patrolmen have been instructed to arrest any motorist who is caught driving without the state permit. Dozens of such arrests have been made in past weeks.

LOST BATTALION

Rogers and his group took to the country for two weeks until they felt there was nothing to do except surrender.

"The treatment was pretty good at first. We had faced those fellows in battle and they had respect for us. But later with second grade troops moved in, things began to get tough. And they got tougher every day. I suppose the worst treatment of all was from Korean troops, which came much later. Anybody who has a good word for those Koreans is a damn fool. They are worse than Japs anytime. Korean collaborators were directly responsible for 90 per cent of deaths in our outfit.

Taken to Singapore.

"In Java we could buy food, for the Nip commander was getting a 30 per cent cut on everything that came in. Then we were taken to Singapore. There British, Dutch, Australian, and American prisoners lived on moldy rice, sweepings from a rice mill—and little stinking fish about a finger-length long."

In Jan. 1943, Rogers said the group was taken from Singapore, "30 men in a sealed box car, 20 feet long and eight feet wide," and three days later put on board the 4,000-ton tramp steamer, Moji Maru.

"There were 342 men packed in the hold I was in, shoulder to shoulder," he said.

Liberator bombers attacked the three-ship convoy of which the tramper was part, and sunk one, he related.

The planes scored a near-miss on the Moji Maru, killing 17 men, he said.

Went Into Burma Jungle.

'In Burma, we spent three days in cells and then went into the jungle."

There the Texans were put into a work camp for 454 Americans, about half Texans the rest survivors of the Houston sinking, he continued.

"For a time we got sufficient food, but things changed right quick. We were digging cuts for a narrow gauge railroad line and filling in most spots, carrying earth in shallow baskets.

"We were up before daylight at every camp, and we moved on to many. Breakfast would be rice, stew and tea and then we would be given our work quota for the day. If we struck rock or timber country, then we often had to work 20 hours to do our stint. But we were always required to be on the job at seven o'clock next morning.

Sick No Good.

"Once the wounded were put on half rations. Lt. Col. Blucher S. Tharp, asked the Jap commander about it and he was told, 'sick no good to themselves, to Japan or to their country. Sick on half rations. Sick died."

"That was at Camp 80 Kilo. We called it 'death camp.' As many as nine men a day died. We were ordered to abandon sick there when we moved to Camp 100 Kilo, but later some were taken out.

"Oftentimes we were ordered to have a certain number of men at work and there weren't that many able bodied men. We'd go into shacks we called hospitals where men lay on the ground, an 'blitz' out the additional number of men we needed, even if ulcers had eaten to the bone all along their legs. They had to work to avoid terrific beatings."

Graves Marked.

Officers dug graves, Rogers said, carrying teakwood crosses and giving each man a Christian burial. Careful records, he said, were kept of the whereabouts of each grave and records buried in bottles. "No man from that outfit will lie in an unknown grave."

The Texans got out of the jungle on Feb. 29 and were taken to Tamakan, Thailand.

"During all that time we went maybe two days without a beating and would then get a dozen beatings on the third day. Worst scare I ever had was when a Jap soldier jammed his rifle, with safety off, in my stomach.

I was caught with an uncensored newspaper and took the blame for all the others. I was sentenced to five years in prison."

In Jail When War Ended.

While Rogers was in jail at Bangkok, the war ended.

"One morning—it was the 15th of August—they took us out of cells, gave us our kit bags, which had been in storage all the time, a cake of soap and two packs of cigarettes. 'The war is now over' was their only explanation."

For the first time in four years Rogers talked by telephone with his wife, Gertrude, Tuesday night. Then he learned that his son, James, who enlisted last year when he was 17, sailed for the Philippines last week. Rogers said during captivity he received only four postcards and one 25-word letter from home.

The food was so scarce, Rogers related, he "ate dogs, cats, snakes and worms."

The group stayed at Mitchell Field Tuesday night and left yesterday morning for Halloran general hospital. Within a day or two, they will be sent to rehabilitation hospitals throughout the country.

"quite satisfactory," but later the former war lord's eyes appeared to become slightly glassy and he complained of being tired.

Asked why he decided to shoot himself instead of performing the traditional ceremony of hari kiri, he replied:

Feared Might Miss

"While hari kiri is the traditional manner of ending your life, I feared I might miss."

He explained that the traditional ceremony calls for the performer to bring the knife up and across his stomach, and that a second person stands behind with a sword to cut off his head. He explained, he had no one to carry out the second part.

"I have nothing to say, because it is all being decided by the United States government," he replied when asked how he felt about the fact he must face trial when he recovers.

He said his treatment in the hospital was "good" and that the United States army was "abiding by International law," in giving him treatment.

Military police guards, his nurse and a Japanese-American interpreter were constantly in the room during the interview.

fore the surrender that industry could not continue.

VALUABLE CROPS SAVED BY 'HOPPER CONTROL PROGRAM

Reports on the grasshopper control program carried on through ten "mixing stations" scattered throughout the county reveal that Navarro county farmers have saved an estimated $40,000 in crops by the insect poisoning operations, H. C. Robinson, county agent, has announced.

The total cost of the operations to farmers of the county was only $1,200 spent for materials used in spreading the poisons, a nominal expense when compared to benefits received, Robinson reported. Savings to corn crops alone are estimated at $10,000, with cotton savings listed at $20,000, pasture $7,500 and feed crops $2,500.

Government Provided Poison.

The grasshopper poisoning program was carried out through the federal government's bureau of entomology, with the government providing most of the materials necessary for an effective poisoning program. Materials distributed by the government for use in the county are valued at $4,490. Government expenditure was for 889 sacks of bran which were matched by bran and sawdust purchased by the farmers, and a total of 11,200 pounds of poison, known chemically as sodium fluosilicate.

Navarro county farmers applying the poison as bait numbered 332 and the total acreage baited included 3,000 acres of corn, 5,000 acres of cotton, 2,000 acres of pasture and 1,000 acres of feed crops.

Mixing Stations.

Mixing stations from which the poison was distributed were at Rushing, McCord, Pursley, Dawson, Frost, Corbet, Richland, Chatfield, Rice and Kerens.

The government's help in carrying out this program was unusually beneficial to local farmers this year, the county agent pointed out, as the bran and poisons necessary for a successful campaign against the pests were not available at local markets.

Grasshopper infestation of crops in Navarro county are said to have been more serious this year than for many years, with certain fields reported totally destroyed by a sudden attack from huge swarms of the insects. In consideration of this fact, the success of the poisoning campaign against the grasshoppers is of additional importance to Navarro county farmers, Robinson said.

LARGE AMOUNT OF ROAD CONSTRUCTION PLANNED IN COUNTY

Navarro county's part in the second year of the three-year post-war program of the Texas Highway Commission is included in dispatches from Austin, giving information released by D. C. Greer, highway engineer. The construction of $153,000,000 worth of roads in Texas during that period has been planned and awaits only the appropriation by the national congress of funds to match the state on a 50-50 basis.

This county is included in the Dallas district of seven counties. A total of $3,197,700 will be spent in the district on primary roads the first year, $1,840,000 the second and $2,587,000 the third. Set aside for the farm-to-market roads in the district are $1,160,000 the first year, $1,126,400 the second and $1,096,700 the third.

Second Year Projects.

Primary roads—Navarro county—State Highway 31 from Corsicana to Dawson 19 miles, surfacing.

Farm to market roads—Navarro County—State Highway 309 near Round Prairie to Rural Shade, 2.3 miles, grading, drainage structures and surfacing.

State Highway 31, at Kerens to near Bazette, 4.1 miles, grading structures and surfacing.

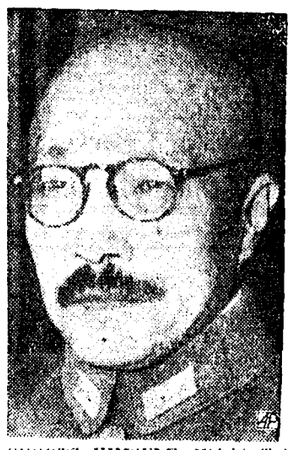

State Highway 22—1.7 miles west of Frost to Emmett, 6.6 miles, grading, structures and surfacing.

State Highway 31, southwest to approximately half mile of Pursley, 1.8 miles grading, structures and surfacing.

First Year Projects.

First year projects announced on August 29 by the highway commission for Navarro county included grading and drainage structures on Highway 31 from Silver City to Dawson, 7:4 miles; from Frost 2.6 miles to Ellis county line, grading, structures and surfacing; from Powell to Elm Flat, 3.1 miles grading, structures and surfacing; from Silver City to Blooming Grove 10.5 miles, grading, structures and surfacing; from Currie to near Rushing, 3.5 miles, grading, structures and surfacing.

A number of other designated farm-to-market roads are expected to be included in the third post-war year program to be announced later. County officials and civic leaders will seek the designation of additional mileage in the future.

END OF RATIONING SHOULD NOT STOP GARDEN ACTIVITIES

The end of the war and the return of many canned foods to the non-rationed list does not mean that home canning of Victory garden products is no longer important, Dr. Wilson David of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce health committe said Wednesday.

"Many gardens and markets will continue to provide good vegetables and fruit through early autumn which will be well worth canning," he continued. "Throughout the world there is a real shortage of food, and it is necessary to ship abroad much of what has been produced in this country to prevent starvation of millions of persons in other countries. Every bit of perishable food canned, dried or otherwise preserved is now a contribution to the world's winter stockpile.

"Home canned products are important and appetizing sources of health-building nutrients, vitamins, minerals, proteins and energy fuel. It is essential, however, that food canned at home be processed properly, preferably with a pressure cooker. The home food canner should carefully follow instructions in a reliable booklet on how to can food.

"Improper canning results in spoilage and waste of food, and it may result in food poisoning. Precautions include: (1) not using food taken from a can with bulging ends; (2) not eating preserved food with a disagreeable or unnatural odor, and (3) thoroughly boiling non-acid canned foods and left over foods before serving, so that the heat may destroy butulism toxin if it is present."

OCCUPATION

Adm. Shigetaro Shimada, surrendered quietly at his home to an American officer, saying he had contemplated suicide but changed his mind.

Sugiyama Kills Himself.

But the man whom the Japanese war machine had planned to lead the defense of Honshu's vital Kanto Plain against American invasion, Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama, killed himself with a pistol shot through the head at his office near the Emperor's Palace.

"I regret the war ended in such a way," he had told his aide, Colonel Tanaka, "and as I was in an important post I keenly feel my responsibility and am awaiting a significant opportunity to do away with myself."

One of Japan's three field marshals, member of the Kwantung army clique and a former war minister, Sugiyama found that opportunity yesterday while his wife was killing herself at her home.

(The Domei agency, in a broadcast recorded by the FCC, said Sugiyama shot himself three times but lived an hour. Domei said, "he felt a deep responsibility for Japan's defeat." He let farewell letters to the war minister, his chief of staff and others.)

More Suicides Likely.

More suicides were believed likely as the hunt progressed or the listed persons, including seven suspected key members of the dreaded "Black Dragon society," which has been ordered disbanded.

Russell Brines, Associated Press correspondent, was told today by several informed sources that two of the seven men sought, Seigo Nakano and Ryohei Uchida, were dead.

Japan's cabinet was called into session today by Premier Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni and sources close to the government said the members probably would be asked if their past records were satisfactory to MacArthur.

The Herculean task of accomplishing Japan's surrender and disarmament throughout her stolen empire made slow progress elsewhere.

Gen. Hsia I-Su, chief of staff to the commander in chief of China's field armies, said several months may be required to repatriate the more than 1,000,000 Japanese soldiers in China.

The surrender of 85,000 troops in the Singapore area and some 500,000 soldiers and sailors in Southeast Asia and the East Indies was accepted formally at Singapore, but Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten warned that the Japanese "are finding it very hard to accept defeat and may try to wriggle out of the terms of surrender."

Mrs. R. C. Jernigin and daughter, Miss Rowland Jernigin, and Miss Cecille Anne Bryant were Dallas visitors on Tuesday.

TREATS TOJO — Capt. James Johnson, Army doctor, took over treatment of Hideki Tojo after the Japanese war lord tried to commit suicide by shooting. Capt. ## Information From Navarro County Rationing Board War price and rationing boards will pass upon the eligibility of all tire applications, regardless of quota limitations, W. A. Wright said Tuesday morning.

Since any commercial motor vehicle is now eligible for the size and type tire it needs, the urgency of need for tires and the ratings on the essentiality list will guide tire issuance.

Products containing Grade D beef can now be produced. Point values have been assigned so that these products may be transferred. Consumer and trade point values for semi-dry sausage are lowered.

The board will issue an additional reserve allotment equal to 25 per cent of the meal service and refreshment allotments for the September-October, 1945, period, to all institutional users, when issuing their regular allotment for that period. The institutional user files will be transferred to the Dallas district office prior to the issuance of the November-December allotment.

ACHESON DECLARES BRITISH IN SERIOUS MONEY SITUATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Undersecretary of State Acheson said today that the British are in a very serious financial situation, but that any help given them will have to be approved by congress.

Largely for this reason, Acheson told a news conference, the present Anglo-American talks will not at first produce what he termed definite settlements of any of the various financial and commercial problems. Instead they will lead to further actions by the two governments.

The British themselves are reported preparing a share-the-war cost plan for submission to the United States as a basis for urging an American grant of between $3,000,800,000 and $6,000,000,000.

The general American attitude is that no sort of grant is possible and that the British will have to be content with some kind of long-term low cost loan.

OIL WORKERS UNION VOTES TO AUTHORIZE PORT ARTHUR STRIKE

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Spokesmen for Local 23 of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO) backed up by an authorization of strike by a membership vote of 2146 to 367 yesterday, today were to confer with management representatives in what they said was a "final effort" to avert shutdown of the Texaco refinery here.

The plant employs 5,000 persons. J. D. Ford, Union president, said the Union is demanding 52-hours pay for 40 or less hours work; a closed shop; double time for Sunday; smoking privileges at the plant; rate adjustments for employes not benefited by recent raises; and pay for 56 Union men laid off after refusing to work Sunday for time and a half.

No date has been fixed for the strike.

Texarkana Bus Service May Be Resumed Today

TEXARKANA, Sept. 13—(AP)—Prospects were termed "fair" that stalled bus service would be resumed here following a meeting between management and union drivers here this afternoon.

Negotiations between representatives of the Texas Bus Company and Local 121, Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motorcoach Operators of America (AFL) were begun at 1:3 p. m.

A representative of the U. S. Conciliation Service had urged today's meeting to end the strike which has snarled city bus traffic since 6 a. m. yeseerday.

Union bus drivers had voted unanimously earlier today to remain out on strike until their demands were met.

SOME TYPES ARMY AND NAVY VEHICLES CLAIMED TOO HEAVY

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 13—(AP)—Some types of army and navy vehicles purchased by civilians cannot operate under all conditions on Texas Highways because their empty weight exceeds the maximum gross weight of 48,000 pounds allowed by Texas law.

An opinion by the Attorney General says a vehicle in excess of the legal maximum gross weight, increased from 38,000 pounds to 48,000 pounds as of Sept. 4, cannot be registered for highway use.

The opinion was sought by State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer who said some vehicles purchased from the army and navy by civilians were very heavy and some of them have an empty weight in excess of the maximum gross weight.

The opinion made these stipulations:

Where a truck weighs 40,000 pounds empty, it should not be registered if its gross weight exceeds the legal limit.

Each unit—truck, truck-tractor, trailer or semi-trailer—should be registered separately, and if an individual unit has a gross weight in excess of 48,000 pounds it should not be registered.

If two or more units whose separate gross weight does not exceed the legal gross weight are operated together and their combined gross weight exceeds the legal limit they may operate under a special permit.

J. E. MILLENDER SPEAKER TUESDAY MEETING OF LIONS

"GOOD, EASY READING" IS THE BIBLE'S SUPREME ROMANCE*

Joseph's Career Outmatches All Fiction—Final Recognition and Forgiveness of His Wicked Brothers—The Vicarious Conduct and Sublime Plea of Judah, the Ancestor of Jesus.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

For sheer literary interest there has never been anything to match the Joseph chapters of the Book of Genesis. Magazine stories cannot approach this great human drama.

It has everything—mystery, adventure, heroism, temptations, drama, love, loyalty, tragedy, transformed human nature, and the greatest 'success" story in history. Comment upon the narrative is far less important and readable than the perusal of the swift-moving tale itself. Everybody who is able to read owes it to himself to have this Genesis story in full recollection.

Out of all the rapid developments of the tale looms the great truth of a Divine Providence who cares for His own. The key to the story is—God. One rises from the reading with the conviction that "There's a Destiny that shapes our ends, rough hew them as we will." Life takes on a deeper meaning to any one who absorbs the Joseph epic.

A Family Affair

Enveloping all the exciting incidents of this saga is the consciousness of the sacredness of the family. Its roots go back to Isaac and Abraham. Its beginnings are in the unwise partiality of Jacob for one son and the boastful bumptiousness of the boy himself. Joseph's real qualities begin to appear when his jealous brothers sell him into Egyptian slavery. He finds himself in a grim school where the tuition is tears and where the scchoolmaster is pain There he learns industry and efficiency, and how to resist terrible temptation. His friendliness to two fellow prisoners, whose dreams he interprets, eventually brings him before dream-troubled Pharaoh. He predicts the seven fat years and the seven lean years; and is made administrator of food supplies, next to Pharoah himself in authority.

Famine had reached to Canaan and Jacob sent his ten sons down into Egypt to buy food. Joseph recognized them, though they dod not know him. He resorts to a strategem to secure the presence of his own full brother, Benjamin. Then, by the device of the chalice hidden in Benjamin's bag, he brings them all back, and threatens to keep Benjamin for a hostage. Whereupon, in one of the most moving appeals ever recorded, Judah offers himself as a substitute for Benjamin—and the denouement of recognition and reconciliation follows.

The Heart-Broken Father

Back of all these stirring incidents in Canaan and Egypt stands the pathetic figure of Jacob, the father. Through all of his tumultuous experiences, to the change that came at the ford of the Jabbok, where wrestled with the angel and won through to a new name and a new character, he had borne, with diginity grief, the evil behaviour of his ten sons, and the loss of his dearest, Joseph, child of his beloved Rachel.

There emerges from this old story the picture of the myriads of the present-day fathers whose hearts have been broken by the loss of sons, either from death or unfilial conduct. Is there any other grief or tragedy to compare with this? If disobedient sons could but know the sorrow they cause there would be many amended lives.

We see Jacob's sorrow at the prospect of losing Benjamin. Yet his sense of family responsibility—one of the major motives of life—inspire him to make even this sacrifice.

In the progress of events, the sons seem to have developed a new sense of filial responsibility and of loyalty to father and family. They stood together before Joseph in solidarity, prepared to accept any fate, rather than to abandon their brother and to bring their father's gray hairs down in sorrow to the gave.

A Brother to the Rescue

Emergencies reveal character Uncounted commonplace boys, from farms and shops and offices, have developed into battlefield heroes during the war. There is more of greatness in every one of us than we ourselves have suspected. Joseph's brother Judah emerges as the hero of the Lesson scene. There were black spots on his record. But faced with the Egyptian bondage of Benjamin, he became an eloquent altruist.

Judah offered himself as a substitute for Benjamin: a foregleam of Judah's greatest Descendant offering Himself as a substitute on the cross. We recall the words of Jesus, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friend." As our Elder Brother is to us, so was Judah to Benjamin.

Eloquence beyond all the skill of the schools welled up from Judah's loyal heart, as he poured out before the Prime Minister the beautiful story of Jacob's devotion to his youngest son. His picture of Joseph's grief, and his magnanimous offer of himself as a bond-servant in his brother's stead, was too much for Joseph. He drove all the Egyptians from the room, and let his emotions have full play.

Then he revealed himself to his brothers, and invited them to bring their whole family down into Egypt—a step in God's providance designed to make the Hebrew's a nation.

All the world is one city.—Anthony Eden.

General observations drawn from particulars are the jewels of knowledge, comprehending great store in a little room.—Locke.

Teach us, good Lord, serve Thee as Thou deservest:
To give and not to count the cost;

To labor and not ask for any reward

—Ignatius Loyola.

Our lief is simply what our thoughts make it.—Marcus Aurelius.

Educated Gorilla On Exhibition Here

Cheeta, the gorilla so well known from the Tarzan pictures, will be on exhibition in Corsicana Wednesday evening starting at 6:30 o'clock at the intersection of Sixth avenue and the tracks of the Southern Pacific Lines.

According to the owner, J. L. Lewis, Cheeta is a talented performer with an enormous appetite that has no regards for rationing—in fact, some 30 pounds of food daily is the average menu.

"Cheeta has more sense than a lot of people," the owner said, and explained "he not only combs his hair and brushes his teeth, but he can sew with a needle and thread."

"What a help he would be around the house if he could only cook," a bystander observed.

Cheeta will be on exhibition here through Saturday.
